Fascist Utopias:
A Public Humanities Perspective

The unapologetic rise of ethno-nationalism, white nationalism, and supremacist narratives has led scholars to revisit the histories of totalitarianism, fascism, and authoritarianism. Critical scholarship has challenged the idea that racialized violent histories are confined to the past, arguing instead that the legacies and reincarnations of this violence are a prominent aspect of the history of the present. While what constitutes fascism is debated today, it is arguably the malleability of fascist thought—and hence, the ambiguity attributed to what fascism is—that enabled its long lifespan, which cannot be confined to before 1945.

This course examines contemporary fascist narratives that deliver a future promise for a "better life," stability and order, alongside their contexts, practices, and acts (including violence) in relation to their promised "utopian" societies. Considering utopia beyond its common-sense use, we will trace multiple histories of the present pertaining to fascism and identify key tenets of contemporary fascist thought. Within this framework, we will address fascism’s implications for the Global South, including but not confined to Muslim and Global South immigration. Finally, revisiting the postwar reconfiguration of the humanities curriculum as a public project to rebuild a new morality for humanity in the international arena, we will raise questions about the public endeavors of the humanities against the rise of fascist thought today. This entails identifying the kinds of “publics” such fascist narratives address, as well as decoding the patterns of populist narratives.

No prerequisite is necessary. Students are encouraged to bridge theory and practice and turn these questions into a project of public humanities.
Readings and videos will be provided electronically or linked through our course blog:

Please note that you will need to get permission to have access to this blog; it is set up as private. So please make sure you have been granted access to both the blog and the Google Drive so that when you click on the links to the readings and movies provided on the blog, you can access the course materials.

All the weekly readings will be listed on the blog. When applicable, they will be url-linked to the pdf files provided on the tabs of the day. The readings are subject to change to allow us more flexibility, but in all cases, you will always be notified on the blog’s tab for that day.

Your reading response comments will also be posted on the blog, under the designated area of each tab with the date of that day.

The blog address is: http://fascistutopias.blogspot.com/

There are additional helpful resources posted on the resource tab. Please make sure you check them.

Course Format and Procedures:

We will be following the course planner that will be posted on the blog. If there are changes to the planner, you will be notified both in class and electronically—via email. Please come to class having done the readings assigned for that day. Everybody is expected to actively engage with the material and contribute to the class.

In this course, we will use StoryMaps to visualize the content we analyze. StoryMaps let you combine maps with narrative text, images, and multimedia content to create compelling, user-friendly web apps. You will receive a tutorial to use this digital platform.

In addition to your mastery of the course content, you will also learn using a digital platform configured for a public humanities project. At the end of the course, we will have created our own website—mapping contemporary fascist reincarnations and movements.

Grading:

Participation: Please note that you are required to actively participate in the class. If you have a quiet classroom persona, please speak with me immediately. Attendance is mandatory. You have the right to two unexcused absences, and after that your grade might be affected negatively.
(15% of final grade)

Reading Response/StoryMaps: Every week, we will add content to the StoryMaps. Your weekly reading responses will provide the storyline to the mapped content examined in class. Reading responses answer a question I will post on the course material assigned for that week.
Reading response length: minimum 250 maximum 350 words.
(25% of final grade)

Final Project: Your final project includes a research paper and its visual mapping on the StoryMaps. On the last day of classes, you will present your research findings and receive feedback before you submit your final paper.

Final paper length: MA students min 12 max 15 pages. PhD students minimum 20 maximum 25 pages)
Spring 2021

Aslı İğsız
asli.igsiz@nyu.edu
Office Hours: By appointment

Your research paper counts for 40% of your final grade, and its visualization via StoryMaps counts for 20% with a total of 60% of your final grade.

| Final Paper Abstract due on March 4th. |
| Final paper is due on May 15th via email. |

Final Grade Breakdown:

Participation: 15%
Weekly Reading Responses: 25%
Final Paper: 40%
Final Project StoryMaps: 20%

Accessibility:

For special needs and accessibility please check:

https://www.nyu.edu/students/communities-and-groups/student-accessibility.html

COURSE PLANNER:

INTRODUCTION
Week 1
Jan 28

“Turkey’s Strongman, Recep Tayyip Erdogan, takes to the World Stage: He is posing as the voice of Muslims everywhere and of the Global South.” The Economist. September 10, 2020.

Recommended only (not required):

PART I: FASCISM

Week 2
Feb 4
History and the Concept

Mark Neocleous, Fascism. 1-94.

Primary Source:
Alain de Benoist & Charles Champetier, Manifesto for a European Renaissance.
(This small book is published by Arktos—please consider checking publishers of Alt Right publications)

Recommended only:

Week 3
Feb 11
Past and Present Publics

Week 4
Feb 18
Legislative Day. No class.
Please take advantage of the break and start reading Houellebecq’s Submission and Camus’ You Will Not Replace Us!

PART II: THEORETICAL FRAMEWORK

Week 5
Feb 25
History of the Present I

Theodor Adorno, Aspects of the New Right-Wing Extremism. 1-64.

Primary Sources:
“Getting Out Part I” and Part II.” Sounds Like Hate. Southern Poverty Law Center Podcast. Transcript: Part I and Part II

“Sounds Like Hate-Getting Out Resources.” Southern Poverty Law Center.
Week 6
Mar 4
History of the Present II:
Between Categories of Analysis and Practice

Revisit from Week 1:
“The Turkey’s Strongman, Recep Tayyip Erdogan, takes to the World Stage: He is posing as the voice of Muslims everywhere and of the Global South,” The Economist. September 10, 2020.

Week 7
Mar 11
Utopia

Thomas More, Utopia.

Primary Source:
Michel Houellebecq, Submission.

PART III: THE “UNDESIRABLE”
Week 8
Mar 18
“Civilization” and Race

Primary Sources:

Samuel Huntington, “The West, Civilizations, and Civilization.”

Identity Evropa/American Identity Movement, Southern Law Poverty Center.

Recommended Only:

(Originally from Spengler’s "The Soul of the City" in The Decline of the West, 1918)

Zack Snyder, 300. Film based on Frank Miller’s comic book.

Week 9
Mar 25
Eugenicist Demography: Segregation

Primary Sources:

Renaud Camus, You Will Not Replace Us!

Revisit Michel Houellebecq’s Submission from Week 7.

Recommended Only:

Week 10
Apr 1
Populism

Primary Sources:

Jonathan Bowden Western Civilization Bites Back, Ed. Greg Johnson. 5-77. (This book is published by Counter-Currents. Please consider checking this Alt Right publisher.)

PART IV. FASCIST UTOPIAS
Week 11
Apr 8
Segregation, Islam, and the “White” Global North

Identity Evropa, Southern Poverty Law Center.

Primary Sources:

Bob Whitaker, Mantra.

“How the Greek Island of Lesbos Became a Hub of Right-Wing Activism.” TRT World. 13 May 2020. (TRT is the Turkish Radio and Television)

Week 12
Apr 15
“White North in Crisis”:
Gender, Sexuality, Family, and Security

Primary Source:

Week 13
Apr 22
White “Extinction” and “Genocide”

Graham Macklin, “Greg Johnson and Counter-Currents.”
Key Thinkers of the Radical Right: Behind the New Threat to Liberal Democracy. Ed., Mark Sedgwick. 204-218.

Rosa Schwartzburg, “No, There Isn’t a White Genocide.” Jacobin. September 4, 2019.

Primary Source:

Publisher: Counter-Currents.

Week 14
Apr 29
Discontent in the Present:
A “Counter-Revolution” for a Future (White) Utopia

“This Turner Diaries, Other Racist Novels, Inspire Extremist Violence.”

Alexandra Alter, “*How The Turner Diaries’ Incites White Supremacists.”

Primary Sources:

Paul Greengrass, July 22. Film based on Norwegian mass killer Anders Breivik’s massacre of 77 people.

Andrew MacDonald (William Pierce), The Turner Diaries.

Week 15
May 6

Final Project Presentation.

Please consider fascistic weaponization of the Northern white fascist movements within the context of the Global South.